WEDNESDAY, DEC. 22. HIS MAJESTY returned in the steamer on Saturday evening, from the island of Kahoolawe, taking almost everybody by surprise, as it was generally thought that he would detain the vessel. But with his usual punctuality, he was found awaiting at Lahaina her arrival, having crossed over from Kahoolawe direct to

REGARDING the Trenty with the United States, concerning which there is so much anxiety, there is of course no decisive news by the late mail. The only reference to it in the message of President Grant is the following: "A reciprocity treaty with the King of the Hawaiian Islands was concluded the same month. As it contains a stipulation that it shall not go into effect until Congress shall enact the proper legislation for the purpose, copies of the instrument are herewith submited in order that, if such should be the pleasure of Congress, the necessary legislation upon the subject may be adopted." The President has chosen to present the treaty to Congress without any expressions for or against, doubtless for good reasons, and perhaps it may prove to be the wiser course.

THE question of ratifying or rejecting the treaty must come up during the session. At its opening the majority adopted a resolution to compel the titmost economy on the part of the general government, and pledges itself against all subsidies of any kind what ever. The action of the majority is announced in the following telegram, which everyone can interpret as snits himself :

Curcago, December 8. - Encouraged by the elecon of Kerr and the tractable spirit of Southern embers, the National Democratic Executive Comnittee now in session has arranged a plan of action for the guidance of Congress and the future of the party. It has been resolved that Congress shall grant no subsidies this Winter, and shall vigorously diminish appropriations and current government expenses; that investigations into all forms of governent expenditures shall at once be set on foot, and that, as far as practicable, economy shall be adopted.

Wn do not, however, waver in our belief that Congress will ratify the action of the American Government, which has entered into a solemn engagement, with the view of securing the commercial advancement of both coun-The King vs. Malie. We think it has acted wisely in this matter, and some time ago predicted that when the question was fully canvassed, and all the advantages weighed, there could be no other conclusion. There will therefore be no great opposition to the measure from the Pacific States, as there ought not to be from quarter.

THE following telegram appears in the San Francisco papers:

President Grant's Message.

We have not the space to devote to the republication of this state document, and must refer such of our readers as wish to peruse it in full, to home papers. It was delivered to Congress on the 7th of December, and notwithpendence covering the 100 years which have developed 13 feeble colonies, with a population ulation of 40,000,000. The material progress Hartford. of the country during this period is sketched in a clear and compendius style which holds with stendiness the happy medium between wearisome prolixity and the unsatisfactory brevity which sometimes results from over-

The subject of education which the Presilent discusses, is a new one for such a document, and yet it may properly be introduced. The statistics given in connection with this that in 1875 it figured up at the enormous sum of $1,000,000,000. In view of these astounding facts the President recommends the taxation of "all property equally," exempting only "the last resting place of the dead."

A considerable part of the message is taken up with the serious questions involved with Spain, Cuba and Mexico, which he discusses calmly and plainly. On the whole the message is moderate in its tone, and will be well received in Europe and America.

What the Papers Say of It.

London, December 9-6 A. M. - The Times to-day has a leading editorial on the President's message. Referring to that portion about Spain and Cuba. The Times says: "If about Spain and Cuba. The Times says: "If
